Our Code of Conduct requires all staff to declare if they have any potential conflicts of interest. If you complete this, the information will be held on your personnel file. For example the application form

The Trust currently has in use a fingerprint reader which is used for time keeping of staff members (Clock in/out). As part of your role you may be required to use a clock system. The clock in/out readers in place in the Trust don't store an individual's fingerprints. Only certain aspects of an individual's fingerprint characteristics are stored. This data is then encrypted. This method is separate to what is done at a government level (Police etc.) and cannot be matched to any other sources to identify an individual by any organisation other than Northumbria Healthcare. This is only linked to an employee number that is held by the Trust.

All personal data held by the Trust, both for patients and staff are held in accordance with Data Protection laws and with confidentiality in mind. The data is not available to any individual unless there is a specific need for this and only for the purpose it has been collected for (time keeping in relation to your employment). The basis for using this data under GDPR is Article 9(2)(b) - for employment.

As the Trust does not rely on consent as a legal basis with this data being used for employment purposes you are not required to provide consent for the use of the fingerprint readers. The information that we hold to enable you to use the finger print devices is kept for the length of your employment with the Trust. If you leave the Trust the fingerprint template is destroyed as it is no longer required, additionally the data may be destroyed sooner if there is no longer a need for it.

How long is the information retained for?

If you are successful, the information you provide during the application process will be retained by us as part of your employee file for the duration of your employment plus 6 years following the end of your employment. This includes your criminal records declaration, fitness to work, records of any security checks and references.

If you are unsuccessful at any stage of the process, the information you have provided until that point will be retained for 400 days.

How we make decisions about recruitment?

Final recruitment decisions are made by hiring managers and members of our recruitment team. All the information gathered during the application process is taken into account.

We follow the guidance provided by NHS Employers.

Pre-employment checking seeks to verify that an individual meets the preconditions of the role they are applying for.
