

Do you want to work with the best in the world?

St Bartholomew's Hospital, the oldest hospital in England with some of the newest facilities, is home to world-leading cardiac and cancer centres, providing state-of-the-art treatment to our patients in the very heart of the City of London. We offer robotic surgery, ECMO, complex electrophysiology and are a leading provider of stem cell transplantation and immunotherapy for cancer treatment. We are one of the five busiest Heart Attack Centres in the UK, and home to the largest Atrial Fibrillation Ablation centre in Europe.

Our vision is to be a leading and innovative nursing and AHP centre, providing the very best care and excellent patient experience. We are a dedicated, supportive and ambitious team offering excellent training and development opportunities, including a growing nursing and AHP research and clinical academic career programme (internships, MSc, PhDs, post-doctoral opportunities).

The hospital is situated in beautiful surroundings close to St Paul's Cathedral, has excellent public transport links and is close to the wide range of social and cultural attractions that London has to offer, making St. Bartholomew's a truly great place to work.

We are currently in the process of expanding the nursing team based within the outpatient department at St Bartholomew's Hospital located within the City of London. We are looking to recruit an enthusiastic and hardworking band 5 registered nurse to join us in this exciting and varied area of nursing.

The outpatient team moved to a brand new purpose built outpatient department designed to meet specific outpatient requirements for patients and staff. The clinics are based mainly around cardiology, specialist cardiology, oncology, respiratory, endocrine and diabetes. The clinics are operated between a team of specialist doctors, Clinical Nurse Specialists, physiotherapists, dieticians, pharmacist and clinical psychologist. Successful candidates will be professionally and clinically supported within the larger outpatient nursing team.
